

LIR Workshop Series

“Playing the Game of Bibliometrics”

This workshop will include a talk by David Clay, Liverpool University on the use of impact factors in Research Assessment exercises in the UK as well as a practical explanation of the assessment of citation metrics by Rosarie Coughlan from NUI Galway. Two snapshots of the experiences of academics one from an STM and one from a social science background will balance the discussions by providing the academic perspective from a diverse disciplinary location.

Thomson Reuters are providing a trainer to run through the practical identification of impact factors using their products. The session will conclude with a question and answering session. This workshop offers value for those who are already working in the area of bibliometric instruction and wish to know more and for those who are new to this area and wish to gain a good initial understanding of the issues involved.
